A DAILY THOUGHT.

"Tis the mind that makes the body rich."—Shakespeare.

The Democrats are whistling to keep up their courage.

Paducah needs a general cleaning up. The council should take some steps towards providing public garbage carts.

The Republican ticket, which hasn't even been put on, seems to be causing the Democrats considerable pain for a ticket so "hopelessly sure of defeat".

Gen. T. Estrada Palma is a peculiarly modest man. He is not an office seeker, but will be unable to resist if the people offer him the presidency of Cuba.

Mayor Lang has spoken in favor of sprinkling the streets at the expense of the city. It is regretted that he didn't do it four years ago when he first went into office.

The world is getting better every day. It is reported that seven anarchists were caught in Berlin and simply "expelled." This is a new method of disposing of them on the Continent.

The Standard Oil company, which has been accused of buying up about everything else in the country, is now said to be after the banks. It evidently needs to buy up a few of the newspapers, too.

The Chinese can be very accommodating at times. 3,000 soldiers who wanted to enter their own city of Peking kindly refrained when the foreign ministers objected. They are probably under the impression that China has been benevolently assimilated.

First the Democratic organs claimed the Republicans would not dare to put out any ticket at all. Now they admit that a ticket will probably be put out, but only "in order to make some showing in Washington." Before the campaign is over they will be convinced that a ticket will be put out to win.

According to some of our contemporaries Paducah men are going to get rich on a gold mine they have discovered. One paper locates it over near Metropolis and the other in Mexico. The mine in question was reported in The Sun several months ago, and is in Oregon. The Sun usually gives the news first, and gives it correct.

Judge Walter Evans, of the federal court, is too much of a gentleman to notice the undignified attack made on him by Judge Tarvin, of Covington. It may be one of the prerogatives of a man occupying Judge Tarvin's exalted position to assail a man of Judge Evans' standing, but it is hardly calculated to raise him in the estimation of intelligent people.

The Hopkinsville Messenger asks: "We have never seen it, of the items of disbursements made from the $100,000 reward fund. There may be a record kept somewhere of the amount and to whom paid, of the '$5,000 for each conviction' for the three persons convicted; we suppose there is. It may be a public record, too, so far as we know. But somehow, or in some way, it has never fallen to our lot to see any publication of any of the proceedings of the reward fund commissions. Against the methods of the commissions we haven't a word to say. We have no doubt they can account for every dollar expended by them, but as the money came from the pockets of the tax-payers, and as it was appropriated by a legislative body representing the people for the purpose of detecting and punishing murderers, it looks like a fair legitimate proposition that the people should see where the money went, to see how much has been paid out, and how much, if any, is on hand."

A PROGRESSIVE MAN.

If the opposition organs really think that Uncle Dave is the frank, outspoken politician that they claim he is, The Sun has no objection to his being exalted to the skies for his unequalled virtues. Perhaps he is every bit the progressive, and public enemy that they claim. It is good the ordinance making committee of anti-slavery is giving for the extension of the water mains into Mechanicsburg to give the people there the benefit of water and fire protection. It is likewise true that he put the city to the expense of several hundred dollars having the water works appraised when he knew, if he is the intelligent, liberal minded gentleman that his friends claim, that there was no probability of the city's being able to buy the plant. But of course matters of such insignificance count for nothing. The Democrats didn't want sewerage, they didn't want the people of Mechanicsburg to get the water and fire protection they were taxed for, and the Democrats wanted to find out what the water works were worth, whether they could buy them or not. The thousand dollars it cost didn't matter. They had previously worked a "con" game and got an equal amount on the wharf improvement. The Sun would like for the genial doctor's admirers and supporters to point to one single thing he ever did that proved a permanent advantage to the city, of a single public improvement that he advanced, or enterprise that he fostered while mayor, or where he ever saved the city a single dollar except when the city "skinned" the contractor on the wharf "improvement."

A BOND DECISION.

An important decision has been rendered in Louisville in a bond case, which is thought to bear some similarity to the one involving the validity of Paducah city bonds. Last November the city of Louisville voted bonds amounting to $500,000, a portion of which were to be used to purchase one park, a portion to purchase other parks, and a portion to construct sewerage. The validity of the bonds was assailed in the courts, the claim being that more than one proposition was voted on the same day, thus making the issue unconstitutional. The court decided that more than one proposition was not voted on. That the only proposition before the people was the issue of $500,000 in bonds, and although the purpose, for which they were to be issued, were enumerated, separate purposes did not constitute separate propositions. It may be that the courts will hold likewise in the bond case now pending against the city of Paducah. The proposition voted on was to issue a certain amount of city bonds, some to go to one railroad and some to go to another. Although the bonds were for two different railroads, it is thought by some attorneys who have read the recent decision that the courts may hold that there was but one proposition voted on, and that was to issue a certain number of city bonds, a portion to be a subscription to one railroad and a portion to another, and the city will have to pay them. Other attorneys, however, do not agree, and do not think there is any similarity in the two cases.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES AT OAK GROVE CEMETERY SUNDAY NEXT.

The Woodmen of the World will hold their annual memorial exercises at Oak Grove Cemetery Sunday afternoon. They will meet at the K. of H. Hall, on South Third, and headed by Dean's Band, will march to the cemetery. Services will begin at 3:00 o'clock, and end with the distribution of flowers on the graves of the deceased, the members being assisted by the ladies of Magnolia Camp. The deceased members of the order are:

JERSEY CAMP NO. 10.

NEW RAILROAD IN PROSPECT.

Marion, Ky., June 19.—Right of way has been secured for a mineral railroad from Carversville, on the Ohio river, to Kuttawa, Livingston county citizens have subscribed $4,000, all that was asked. Indications are that the road may possibly be built. A corps of surveyors are in this county surveying the route from this point to Cave-in-Rock, Ill.

SUES ON ACCOUNT.

J. L. Jones, the furniture dealer, filed suit against the following persons in Justice Hook's court today on account: B. J. Hart, $29.85; Sarah Smith, $22.05; Mary Bailey, $6.50; Ross Anderson, $6.60; Maggie Debs, $94.15; Will Band, $7.95; Lizzie Fortane, $9.50; J. E. Adams, $30.15 and George Bickstein $71.35.

COLLEGES TO CONSOLIDATE.

Richmond, Ky., June 20.—The Alumni of Central university, after an all night session, voted to consolidate with Centre college by a vote of 59 to 41. This results in the university, which has been seven years at Richmond, going to Danville.

STILL A MYSTERY

Ellis Glenn, Who Was Arrested in Paducah, is Still an Enigma.

ON TRIAL FOR FORGERY

She Tells a Remarkable Story of Her Travels and Experiences, and the Mystery May Not Be Cleared.

SAYS SHE TOOK BROTHER'S PLACE

Parkersburg, W. Va., June 20.—The trial of Miss Ellis Glenn, who for years masqueraded as a man, was called today. Miss Glenn has been here for the past eighteen months and has been for the most of that time out on bail. She was brought here from Hillsboro, Ill., on a charge of forgery. It is charged that she lived in this county as a man for about a year, and left after raising a deed of trust from $400 to $1,400 and trading it for a piece of property and $200. She has lived comfortably without visible means of support and her source of revenue is as mysterious as her past. She still maintains that it was her twin brother that committed the crimes of which she has been accused and that she saved him by impersonating him. Her attorneys state that her brother has been here and that he will appear in court and identify himself if necessary to save his sister from the penitentiary. On account of the remarkable career Miss Glenn is supposed to have had the greatest interest attaches to her coming trial.

There are many persons who are willing to swear that the man E. B. Glenn, who is said to have signed the note, is the same person as the woman Ellis Glenn now awaiting trial.

"The newspapers have paid a great deal of attention to me," she said today, "and if they only knew all of my life they would have a great deal more to say. I have never talked to anybody about my life except to my attorneys. They know all about me. I have never written anything about myself in my book. The final chapter of the book will tell who I am and it will give my reasons for many things."

"My name is Ellis Glenn. I was born in Ohio. I do not care to say in what county. My father's name was Ellis Glenn. I had a brother besides my twin brother. My parents are dead and my only immediate relative is my twin brother. His name is Elbert B. Glenn. I am myself dead—that is, I am legally dead."

"I am 41 years old, and I have been legally dead for twenty years. In 1891 I was a trapeze medium in Ohio. I went into a cataleptic state and physicians pronounced me dead. I was suddenly awakened from this existence to find myself surrounded by friends. As my faculties returned I recognized some of them as medical students who had disinterred my body several hours after burial. They were about to dissect me. My coming to life spoiled their plans and completely horrified them. In order to avoid prosecution for body snatching they agreed to provide me with a stipulated monthly rent on condition that I leave the country."

"Since then I have traveled the world. I had varied experiences in Europe, Asia and Africa. I should not have worried of the pleasant excitement of my nomadic career, but I heard the voice of my brother calling to me from across the sea. During all my life when I have been separated from him his form invisible has been by my side."

"From New York I went into Texas in quest of my brother. I did not find him there and his voice still called. I read the newspapers carefully and through some of them I learned of his having been arrested at Hillsboro, Ill. 'Now, I do not propose to tell where I took my brother's place. That will be told in due time if necessary. But I met him the first time after my burial at Litchfield. He would not believe that I was myself, Ellis Glenn, his sister. He declared that he had seen me buried and that he knew that I was dead. The public may impute to me whatever motive they wish in dealing with my exchanging places with my brother, but it is all truth that I did so out of love for him and to save him, without thought of the consequences to myself. No persons except brother and I know where the change took place. Nor has the truth ever been printed about the discovery of my sex."

"Why I pleaded not guilty to the charge to which my brother had pleaded guilty and for which I entered the Chester penitentiary I do not care to say. But I do wish to declare that I was unjustly treated by the West Virginia officers who brought me here in male attire. I pleaded for women's clothes from the time my sex was discovered and I never received them until Judge Jackson ordered that they should be given to me, which was some time after I reached here and became an inmate of the jail. But they will never convict me because the E. B. Glenn, who is charged with forgery for which I am to be tried was a man, as their own witnesses will prove, and since E. B. Glenn was a man and I am a woman, a fact which even the state does not doubt."
